

LOPING PREACHER IS OUT OF PRISON

Frank Cordova, Who Deserted Wife, Makes Statement.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 14.—J. Frank Cordova, who twice deserted his wife and children at South River, and eloped with Julia Bowne, a choir girl, completed a four years' term in State prison this morning and left the institution at an early hour. Accompanied by reporters, he was taken to the rooms of the Trenton Press Club, where he was given breakfast, after which he was taken to Bristol, Pa., to get a train. He refused to say where he was going and would only give out this statement:

"I think that after having paid the penalty that was imposed upon me, I should be allowed the chance to rise up from the depths where I was, and to begin life all over again, and to do a man's work in life. One of the things that has been a source of continual distress to me has been the unkind criticism of the press, but one of the several things I have learned during my intense agony has been to be forgiving. Having been so misjudged, myself, hesitate to misjudge others. All I ask is for a chance to rise and measure up to the full standard of man. He was accompanied by the Rev. Charles S. Kemble, of Plainfield, a Methodist preacher and his classmate at Drexel Theological Seminary. Cordova will live in seclusion in Philadelphia or New York for a time to earn some money, after which he will go to Mexico, where he will eventually be joined by Miss Bowne.

A BIG PROPOSITION.

"John, I must have one of these sky-scraper hats."
